

Macmillan Coffee mornings held in the village were successful: Tuppenny Barn raised £325, Coffee Connect £240, Merrivale Court £400 and Ruth Harding the manager raised £1300, but she did go to extreme lengths and had her head shaved and talked Theresa, the Stein Road lollipop lady into joining her and she raised £155 in under 24hrs. Thank you to all the cake makers, coffee drinkers and to Theresa on the left, Peter with the clippers and Ruth Harding

Jumble Trail, a first for Connecting Southbourne went well. The final number of locations was 44 with the Sea Scouts and Travellers Joy having more than one stall on their site. The actual organisation doesn't take much it's just advertising and posters that need organising prior to the day. We took £211 booking fees but spent £190 on printing 4 x banners, posters, flyers, A3 and A4 maps and, because I had enough money, I advertised in Portsmouth News. Lots of positive comments from people. Suggestions so far include having it on a Saturday, having a smaller area and those outside having tables at a central site. Renaming it Bargain Trail. (I quite like this as it sounds a bit more up market) Having house numbers on map, which will be possible with a smaller area.

Battle for a bargain in Kelsey Avenue

Really pleased with comments from stallholders and visitors saying they enjoyed it and how friendly it was.

All are welcome to the Sea Scouts Fireworks on Thursday 10th November. Bangers and Burgers on Sale from 6.15pm outside the Scout HQ Prinsted.

Facebook: Southbourne West Sussex – village events

Website: www.southbourneonline.co.uk